The new map is an indispensable tool for education and remembrance.

The map is the most comprehensive ever realized to date on the subject of the Nazi concentration camps. It pinpoints more than 2,100 locations spread from northern France to the Ukraine:

- concentration camps
- extermination camps
- 'kommandos'
- Nazi prisons
- transit camps for deportation
- Jewish labour camps
- POW camps
- re-education camps
- forced labour camps
- etc.

All camps have been carefully identified, categorized and indexed.

The map is the result of a search that lasted two years and a successful collaboration between the Belgian National Institute for Veterans and Victims of War and the National Geographic Institute.

The Belgian National Institute for Veterans and Victims of War provides social assistance and moral support to Belgian men and women who fought and continue to fight for the nation's freedom. The institute is responsible for veterans and war victims's health care, social assistance and remembrance.

The National Geographical Institute (IGN-NGI) is a public company under the civil authority of the Belgian minister of Defence. Previously producer of paper charts, IGN has evolved to become the lead agency in matters of information and geographic services in Belgium.
